

Contents

Acknowledgements	IX
List of Tables	X
List of Graphs	XI
List of Figures	XII
List of Abbreviations	XIII
Timeline 1650–1800	XIV
Governors of Suriname, 1683–1802	XV
1 Introduction	1
2 Origins of Dutch and European Colonization in Suriname	16
Precarious Settlement	27
Non-Dutch Migration	32
3 To These Lands and to Nowhere Else?	41
Persistent Regional Networks	46
Legalizing the Trade	51
Tax Evasion: Dutch and British	54
4 The Ascent of the Surinamer, 1690s–1730s	63
Changing Vision	64
From Nassy to Neale	76
Controlling Plantation Managers	93
5 Local Supplies of Labor and Provisions	108
Wood Production and Distribution	110
Imports and Local Production of Drink	119
Between Ship and Plantation	126
Peddlers and the Development of Paramaribo’s Street Markets	135
6 Controlling the Slave Trade	144
Private Interest and Company Trade	146
Commissioners and Governors Caught between Planters and Directors	151
Contracted Sales	158
Saving Suriname’s Slavery	163

7	Trade with the Heartland of Independence	167
	American Captains and Middlemen in Suriname	171
	Surinamese Merchants and Middlemen	179
	The North American Slave Trade in Suriname	185
8	Conclusion	198
	Bibliography	207
	Consulted Archives	215
	Index	216